   Los Angeles City Planning just released the draft Urban Forest Management Plan (UFMP) and it is available for public comment. Click on the hot link UFMP below to read it. The public comment period will be open from Nov. 12, 2026 to Jan. 11, 2027.
   The UFMP serves as a comprehensive roadmap guiding the design, oversight, and management of the City's urban forest. It covers all trees within the City, with a focus on park, street, and private property trees, and treats our urban forest's estimated 10 million trees as vital, living public infrastructure assets that require active management and care in order to enhance their health and the benefits provided to Angelenos.

The ad-hoc environmental committee will begin to review and discuss the plan. Comments will be composed in a letter for City Planning and submitted for approval to the full board in December. The draft is a long report, and it is anticipated that it will require several meetings.
